Carmax Mining (TSXV:CXM) is upbeat about the potential of its Eaglehead copper project in British Columbia, with its president, Jevin Werbes, stating that “we are very encouraged with the results of the current resource estimate which indicate that the resources at the East Zone and Bornite Zone can potentially be mined by constructing open pits. Our plan is to increase the tonnage of the deposit and upgrade the classification from Inferred to Indicated Mineral Resources of the Eaglehead Cu-Mo deposit on the property by drill testing the remaining mineralized targets.”
